The Daily Courant.

Saturday, September 30 1704

From the Bruſſels Gazette, dated Sept. 26.

Rome, Auguſt 30.

ON Sunday laſt the 24th inſtant, the Prince of Paleſtrina, the chief of the Family of the Barbarini, exhibited a Magnificent Show before the Palace of the Dutcheſs of Uzeda, Ambaſſadreſs of Spain, on Occaſion of the Birth of the Duke of Britany: And a mighty Crowd of People flock'd to ſee it, as did alſo a great many of the Nobility in their Coaches. There were three Triumphal Chariots: The two firſt were fill'd with Muſicians and Singers, and driven by two Roman Knights; the third was driven by the Prince himſelf, and in it were Women repreſenting in proper Habits the Goddeſſes Juno, Pallas, and Fame. 36 Footmen richly cloath'd walk'd by the Chariots, each of them carrying a Torch of white Wax. The Singers ſang Verſes in Praiſe of the two Kings and of the Duke of Britany. The next day, being the Feſtival of St. Louis, Cardinal Fourbin went to the Church dedicated to that Saint, accompanied by 40 Prelates, and a great Number of Perſons of Quality Subjects of the two Crowns, and after Divine Service at which the Cardinals Pignatelli and d'Arquin, and the Ambaſſador of Spain, were preſent, his Eminency gave them a Noble Entertainment. The ſame Evening the Prince of Paleſtrina exhibited the ſame Show over again in the Square of St. Mark before the Palace of the Cardinal Fourbin, who caus'd Preſents of all ſorts of Refreſhments to be made to the Ambaſſadreſs of Spain, the Princeſs of Paleſtrina, and the Cardinals Ottoboni, and Altieri, who were come thither for their Diverſion. The other Palaces in the ſame Square were fill'd with Ladies and Gentlemen of Quality, and particularly that of the Ambaſſador of Venice, who gave away Refreſhments in like manner in great Abundance. His Holineſs being inform'd by the Apoſtolical Vicars and the Miſſionaries of the Levant, that the Sieur de Feriol Ambaſſador of France to the Ottoman Porte, has done and continues to do them great Services, in Execution of the moſt Chriſtian King his Maſter's Orders to protect the Roman Catholicks in Turkey, has expreſs'd great Satisfaction upon it, and has ſent a very honourable Letter to that Ambaſſador, with a Preſent of Relicks. They write from Malta, that a rich Jew nam'd Moiſes Pimentel, who came thither from the Levant, has been baptiz'd there by the Name of Peter Clement Ignatius.

From the Rotter. Gaz. Sept. 29. and Amſt. Gaz. Sept. 30.

Venice, Sept. 12. They write from Conſtantinople, That the Grand Signior had given neceſſary Orders for attacking Mehmet Baſſa of Natolia; who having been remov'd from that Dignity, has in Diſguſt taken Arms and already drawn together 15000 Men. The Reſident of the Duke of Mantua has notified to the Senate, that his Maſter is declar'd Generaliſſimo of the Armies of France. The French are preparing to attack Mirandola very vigorouſly, and in order thereto have ſummon'd the Militia of that Principality to draw together in Arms.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Sept. 30.

Ulm, Sept. 18. The Count de Bettendorf who was made Governour of this City by the Elector of Bavaria, after having been beſieg'd by General Thungen with a Body of Imperialiſts 5 days, and ſuſtain'd the Fire of their Cannon and Mortars from ſeveral Batteries, 10 or 12 Hours, beat a Parley the 10th Inſtant at day-break, and offer'd to Capitulate; whereupon Hoſtages being exchang'd, Articles were drawn up and agreed upon, importing in the main, that the Garriſon with 5 Pieces of Cannon and 2 Mortars ſhould be conducted to Strasbourg: Accordingly the 13th the French and Bavarian Garriſon march'd out of the Place; and with them 150 Waggons full of French wounded in the Battle of Hochſtet: But half the Bavarians threw down their Arms, refuſing to go to France. The Regiment of Foot of Reiſnach, which is one of the Regiments of the Circle of Swabia, took Poſſeſſion of the Place immediately, being commanded by Collonel Teſſin, who for the preſent is made Governour. The 14th the Bavarians who had laid down their Arms took an Oath never to ſerve againſt the Emperor or his Allies, and receiv'd Paſports to return home in ſafety. The ſame day Te Deum was ſung in our Cathedral, and a Triple Diſcharge was made of the Artillery on the Ramparts, for the Recovery of this City out of the Hands of the Elector of Bavaria, who took it by ſurprize 2 Years and odd days ago. General Thungen is march'd with great Part of his Forces towards Landau; but has left ſome Thouſands of Men on this ſide the Country, to reinforce the ſmall Body of Men under General Herbeville, who commands in chief on the Danube.

From the Amſterdam Gazette, dated Sept. 30.

Straburg, Sept. 18. The Inhabitants of the open Country about us, quit their Habitations and ſave their beſt Effects in the great Towns neareſt to them, not only for fear the Troops of the Allies ſhould advance this way, but becauſe the French take from them all they can lay their Hands on: Within theſe two or three days they have plunder'd Oberhauſen, Mittelhauſen, and Underhauſen, which are in the Neighbourhood of this Place. We can get no certain Account here of the Motions of the Army of the Allies; Nor dare any Perſon ſpeak of the Battle of Hochſtet.

Frankfort, Sept. 25. 41 Pieces of Cannon are paſs'd by this Place, being the Share that fell to the Engliſh and Dutch of what were taken at Donawert and Hochſtet: 21 of them have the Arms of France on them; they are to be embark'd at Mentz to be ſent down the Rhine: 4 of the aboveſaid Pieces of Cannon are preſented to the Hereditary Prince of Heſſe by the Duke of Marlborough, in acknowledgment of the good Service he did in the Battle of Hochſtet.

Portſmouth, Sept. 26. Laſt Night ſail'd from St. Hellens the Dutch Fleet of Men of War homeward
